

LAND VALUATION IN MADISON COUNTY

Master Commissioner Terrill Has Conclusive Evidence There Is Still Big Demand

"Speaking of land values in Madison county," commented R. B. Terrill, Master Commissioner, "I just concluded a sale on Drowning Creek, at the edge of Estill county, that proves valuation of land in Madison county is not on the decrease."

Mr. Terrill spoke of the sale of a small cottage and about one and one-half acres of land at the above location, just inside the Madison line, belonging to the estate of the late W. B. Winkler, to Henry M. Hubbard, of this county, for $6,500. The property sale together with the figure representing the purchase price, indicates there is still a demand for land in this locality, as is evidenced by numerous other sales contemplated, and that there has been no depreciation to speak of in land values.

This year has been out of the ordinary in the line of sales by Master Commissioner Terrill since there have been better prices and more property sold than usual. During the middle of the summer, the figures representing sales had advanced to a point in excess of those for the entire year 1919. There will be a few additional sales to be added to the list this year, still enhancing the total valuation of land handled by him. He has handled some of the largest as well as smallest tracts of land by anyone holding this office in Madison county.

"I do not look for a drop in the price of land, if this sale can be counted upon for anything in the way of a criterion," said Commissioner Terrill. "There are indications of a slump in many other things, but there is little evidence of a decline in the price of real estate especially where there is any creditable land, and there have been some of the best crops in the history of Madison county drawn from some of the land considered poor, this year. The real estate prospects here are exceptionally good, considering general conditions."

JIM WAGERS ASKS FOR ENDORSEMENT

James W. Wagers, Madison's efficient present circuit clerk, at the request of friends and those having business with his office, has consented to offer for re-election, and in this issue of the Daily Register his announcement appears.

Mr. Wagers realizes that those receiving nominations on the Democratic ticket must be prepared to make an active and intelligent fight by making proper appeal to the voters for the election of Democratic officers. He believes that the Democratic party in Madison county and Kentucky is alive, active and militant and is capable of giving competent and efficient administration of county affairs for the next ensuing terms. He has held the office of circuit clerk for one term and is qualified by experience, character and training, and is recognized as one of the best circuit clerks in Kentucky, and is entitled to endorsement of his good service with a second term.

Many Democrats have expressed the hope that he will have no opposition in his own party. He is popular with both Democrats and Republicans and is universally liked by those having business with his office. His courtesy, politeness and fair treatment of all classes of men and women will cause him to be a strong candidate in the final election. In view of present circumstances, his friends believe it would seem proper that he be nominated without opposition.

HERE IT IS KIDS! ONE WK. FROM WEDNESDAY

Holiday vacation in the schools of the city, a most absorbing matter which has been under general discussion upon the part of hundreds of students for some time, will continue for a period of at least 10 days, and will perhaps begin on Wednesday, Dec. 22d, at noon, lasting until the Monday, a week following. This will give the faculties as well as the students a period of seven school days, two week-ends, practically 11 days in all for holiday vacation.

There will be a meeting of the faculty members next Monday when the holiday question will be definitely settled. However, the above period, is understood to be practically decided upon since the Board of Education granted the faculty 10 days, with the question of closing and reopening of school optional with the faculty.

The Education Board also took up the matter of making a final settlement with the contractors who have made the various improvements at Madison High school.

AFTER MORE MONEY FOR SCHOOLS' BENEFIT

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 9.—George Colvin, state superintendent of public instruction, yesterday sent a request to each county school superintendent for information at once as to the boundaries of all graded districts in their counties, with the name of the railroad company, the telephone company, the express company, the pipe line company, the intramural line company or other public service corporations running through each of these districts.

Superintendent Colvin says that if he can get this information before the tax commission before January 1, it will mean the recovery of a large sum of money for school purposes. He added that the failure of the county school superintendents in the past to report on the matters named had caused the schools to lose thousands of dollars. The law requires the superintendents to make such reports to the railroads, who in turn must include them in the returns to the tax commission.

Superintendent Colvin says: "This does not appear to have been done in the past, and corporations have escaped taxes that graded schools districts are entitled to legitimately receive."

Clarence Webb, Chillicothe, Ohio, shot at a duck and killed a fox, which is said to have jumped at the fowl at the instant Webb shot. This is what the dispatches say, anyway.

READJUSTMENT OF WAGE SCHEDULES

Manufacturers and Retailers Endeavoring To Strike Happy Medium To Satisfy All

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Mass., Dec. 9.—A wage reduction of 22 1-2 per cent in the textile mills in New England and New York State, was forecast today in a statement issued after a conference of textile manufacturers. The industry employs 300,000 persons and such reduction, the statement said, would bring the wage schedules to a figure of a year ago, but leave them more than double those in 1915.

The present stagnant condition of the textile industry made consideration of the wage reduction necessary, the statement said. It recites the public demanded a lower cost of living by readjustment of prices of commodities entering into the expense of daily life. Manufacturers are reluctant towards a radical change in wages because retailers are not disposed to do business on a lower price basis now.

However, buyers refuse to purchase goods at high figure with the result that the retailer finds his stock heavy and refuses to reorder from the manufacturer with the result that the latter is now facing stagnation.

ORGANIZING STATE AUTO ASSOCIATION

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Dec. 9.—Officials of chambers of commerce and automobile men from all parts of Kentucky are here today to attend a meeting to consider the good roads problem in Kentucky and the organization of a State Automobile Association. The meeting was called by President Albert Terstegege, of the Louisville Automobile Club.

While the primary question will be the organization of the automobile association with central headquarters for gathering touring information and directing automobile club work, the roads problem, as presented thru the cutting off of state funds thru court decisions declaring the whisky tax and county aid laws unconstitutional, will come up for consideration. An effort will be made thru the organization to work out a plan for obtaining good roads that will stand the test of the courts.

Under the plan for organization of the automobile association, it is announced, existing clubs, of which there are less than a dozen in the state, would become identified with the state organization as branches. There are more than 100,000 automobile owners in the state.

TO BOOM HERT

Washington, Dec. 9.—Kentucky Republican leaders are to launch a boom for the appointment of A. T. Hert, of Louisville, to a place in the cabinet of President-elect Warren G. Harding at a dinner to be given here tonight. The four Republican members of congress from Kentucky are to be the hosts of the occasion. Among the guests will be Col. Hert, Governor Edwin P. Morrow and Senator-elect R. P. Ernst, of Covington.

Colonel Hert was originally mentioned for secretary of the treasury in the new cabinet, but there has been a switch in the program, and his friends are now urging his selection for secretary of commerce.

Prominent southern Republican leaders have been invited to attend the dinner, and it is said that, in addition to the endorsement of Colonel Hert for a cabinet berth, the appointment of Representative Sam R. Sells, of Tennessee, to be commissioner of pensions will be advocated.

FOSTER CHALLENGES CROSSFIELD TO REPLY

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 9.—A challenge was issued here today to President R. H. Crossfield, of the Bible College, by Rev. R. C. Foster, of Springfield, who in speaking Tuesday at a conference of ministers and other prominent members of the Christian church in Kentucky, hurled an attack at the new theology "taught at college," asking Dr. Crossfield to "specify" as to the charges that address was a "tissue of error and misrepresentation."

In discussing the address of Mr. Foster, Dr. Crossfield said: "I wish to simply say that his attack on the College of the Bible, as reported in newspapers, to put it mildly is a tissue of error and misrepresentation."

Dr. Foster now challenges Dr. Crossfield to specify what he means.

Court Day Sales

JOHN CALLAHAN IS DEAD

Harlan, Ky.—This section is mourning a hero in the passing of John Callahan. He was unschooled. His simple life did not have the radius of the mountain alone. When his wife died the oldest of their eight children was 11, the youngest a babe in arms. He didn't ask help. He just took her place in the pathetic mountain cabin. Toiling as long as there was light, at night he cooked for the next day, made their little shoes, patched their clothes, nursed them, mothered them. They grew older. He toiled harder. By harsh denial, of which loneliness was more cruel than hunger, he paid all of the eight into a settlement school. Death found him at work. Neighbors say he worked himself to death. He was buried on the mountain. An unhealed stone marks the spot. But what he wrought through sacrifice will endure as a monument.

COUNTY SCHOOL PROMOTION DAY

Supervision Benefits To Issue
From Eastern Normal—Progressive Ideas

There will be a conference between President T. J. Coates, of Eastern Kentucky State Normal, and Superintendent Ben F. Edwards, which will result in the county schools receiving the benefit of supervision knowledge of the big institution which, it is also stated, will place the schools of Madison county at the head of any in the state, where county schools are considered.

This movement, it is known, has been under contemplation for some time. Supt. Edwards has said he would call for and graciously accept any advantage of knowledge in the way of supervision he might obtain from the Eastern Normal. The plan to be followed is not definitely known at this time, however, many progressive ideas will be in evidence.

One feature which originated with Mr. Edwards is the report of teachers, to the effect that they will each have two or more pupils for the eighth grade examination after the close of the present term. There are 90 or more schools in Madison county. This will furnish approximately 200 students for this examination, believed to be the greatest of any county in the state. This examination will perhaps be taken the year of thereabouts. Mr. Edwards has already sent in requisitions for examination papers and questions for the January examination for more than 75 applicants, and he hopes that this number will be greatly exceeded.

This movement alone will insure a great increase in teachers, the successful applicants being promoted rapidly, and becoming teachers long before they would, should they remain in the regular class routine. The teachers of the county, representing both white and colored schools, have agreed to submit their reports at the close of the present term, or before that time, December 24, and the list will be made out and examinations given attention. This is said to be one of the most original and progressive movements launched in the schools of this state for a number of years.

PROMINENT BOXER KILLED IN BOUT

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 9.—Mickey Shannon, a heavyweight boxer of Pittsburgh, who was knocked out in a bout here Tuesday night with Al Roberts, of Staten Island, died in the city hospital shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. Shannon received the fatal blow in the sixth round, suffering internal hemorrhages at the base of the skull. He never regained consciousness.

Shannon was known as a high type of boxer. Mickey Shannon was his ring name, adopted after he began his boxing career. Outside the squared circle he was once a student at Staunton Military Academy of Virginia and a member of its football team. He volunteered for service in the war and won a lieutenant's commission. After the armistice he turned down an opportunity to enter the University of Virginia and took a position as metallurgist with the Carnegie Steel Company at Pittsburgh.

FEW SIGNING UP WITH BURLEY LIST

A number of Madison county tobacco growers are deciding to join the ranks of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, and three more have added their names to the list, one of them paying his initiatory fee, a small sum, sending it to the Lexington headquarters. He asked that his name not be mentioned at this time, time since he stated there would be others follow within a short while.

"What is good enough for the rest of the state is good enough for me," he explained, and stated he had read so much of the explanatory matter recently, that he was interested, and believed he would cast his lot with the great majority. He is a large producer. He claimed the action of the big organization, as he was beginning to see it, was for the furtherance generally of the interest of the grower, and since he was in the growing business, he decided to take the step. It is claimed there is a disposition upon the part of many to withhold the inferior grades, and only put the best they have on the market. This, it is also said, is being advocated by members of the organization, who are looking towards procuring the best price possible for the grower, they assert.

GRAVE HALF DUG WHEN WILL IS FOUND

Brother of Miss Patridge Hopes To Find Another, He Being Against Cremation

When a will was found among the effects of Miss Lelia Patridge, Eastern Normal teacher, killed in an auto accident Saturday night, the work of digging the grave in Richmond cemetery for interment of her body, which was under way was stopped. One of the clauses in the will was to the effect that the body be cremated.

Mr. Eugene L. Patridge, a brother, here from South Carolina who was again in incineration of the body, contains the search for a possible additional and later will. Some time ago Miss Patridge fell heir to considerable property. It is believed she made a later will, and it is with the hope that the incineration plan will not be found, that the search is being continued. The arrangements for the funeral held up.

Miss Patridge was not dependent upon her personal efforts for a livelihood. She devoted the greater part of her life to school work to satisfy a desire to make the world better. She was known as a humanitarian. The remuneration for her services was a secondary consideration to a great extent.

Should there be an additional will, and later will found in accordance with the requirements of the former will, the body will be taken to Cincinnati in all probability, and be cremated.

SAYS RAILROADS MUST HAVE THEIR MONEY

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Dec. 9.—Immediate payment to the railroads of sums due them under the guaranty provisions of the transportation act but withheld under the ruling of the comptroller of the treasury was declared by the interstate commerce commission in its annual report today to be "vital" in order that the carriers may properly serve the public. The commission recommended that congress amend the railroad act to permit the release an apayment to the roads of the money thus tied up.

The year's rail operations have developed the need of several other changes in laws, the commission said. It urged congress to amend the interstate commerce act to provide for the punishment of any person "offering or giving to an employee of a carrier subject to the act any money or thing of value with intent to influence his action or decision with respect to car service and also to provide for the punishment of the guilty employee."

The menace of wooden passenger coaches was set forth as another subject for legislative action, the commission urging that the roads be compelled to use steel cars in all passenger train service and prohibited from using wooden cars between or in front of steel coaches.

"NO PEACE UNTIL IRELAND IS FREE"

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 9.—Proponents in Ireland of an Irish Republic have resolved that "England shall have no peace and that the world will have no peace until our republic is recognized," Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, declared today before the committee of 100 investigating conditions in Ireland.

She said material relief for her country was necessary as many were starving. "But what we want most," she said, "is our freedom. We want England out."

She gave a dramatic recital of conditions in Ireland, and declared she became resigned when her husband indicated he decided to starve himself as a martyr to the cause.

Do You Pay Cash?

for your groceries? If you do and buy elsewhere you pay too much, for the man who has his groceries charged until the end of the month or longer, pays the same price as you—all the added cost of charging and collecting and of bad accounts needs be added to the price of the goods in fact they must be if the man continues to sell goods for he would fail and go bankrupt if he didn't. So you, my friend, who pays cash must be paying too much at least more than you ought to pay for you are paying for something you don't get. You are helping to pay the other fellow's bill and the other fellow's service. We have a system in which everybody pays alike and shares alike.

Kash and Karry

No one is helping pay the bill of the other fellow. We are on the right basis. The only sound basis—pay for what you get when you get it and see what a big difference there is in the price—not on one thing, but on every thing. A visit to our store pays you big dividends.

CALL FOR TEACHERS WILL BE ANSWERED

Madison County to Have Big List of Applicants in Field Within a Short Time

The urgent necessity of obtaining more teachers for the Kentucky schools is stressed in a letter received by B. F. Edwards, superintendent of Madison county schools, from State Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin.

The letter was sent to every school superintendent in the state and the officials are asked to impress on students in the eighth grade of the public schools and on their parents the desirability of their completing the course. They are also instructed to urge high school students to take up teaching as a profession.

In furtherance of the plan, the state superintendent instructed county superintendents to hold county diploma examinations in places other than the county seat if that seemed desirable. They are instructed to name competent persons to conduct the examinations and to make the questions more "satisfactory than they were last year."

"Let me suggest," says the letter in regard to examinations "that you encourage as many promising prospects as possible to prepare for teaching. Appeal to those who will graduate from the high schools to take up the teaching profession as a life work. Let us begin now to enlist as many as possible in the teaching profession."

Kentucky needs the brightest of her young men and women as teachers. Kentucky is beginning to be willing to pay them. Better than the pay, however, Kentucky is beginning to be ready to respect and honor them. Everywhere we want more teachers and better teachers. To this end, we must have better paid teachers.

Superintendent Edwards will carry out the suggestions set forth in the letter and speak to grammar school and high school students on the subject. Special attention will be paid to the graduating class of the Senior High school.

PINEVILLE PAPER PRAISES OUR BOYS

Pineville was pleased mightily over defeating the Model High school football team in the Thanksgiving game. The Pineville Sun had a fine story of the game in which several compliments were paid Richmond's stars. In its writup the Sun said:

"More than 1,000 persons saw the game, many of the spectators coming from Middlesboro, Harlan and other surrounding towns, and they were well rewarded for their trouble, the two elevens, almost evenly matched as to size, putting up as game and as stubbornly fought contest as was staged on any gridiron the same or any other afternoon.

"Aroused by Pineville's first touchdown, Model Hi came back desperately, and a series of beautifully executed forward passes thrown by Bill Crutcher led to a touchdown, Covington receiving the final pass that produced the lone Richmond score. Richmond continued the passing game until the end, many of the passes going for 30 or 40 yards. The Pineville boys, bewildered by them at first, soon adjusted themselves and their brilliant tackling and alertness, intercepting many of the passes, kept their good line protected the rest of the afternoon.

"Bill Crutcher was the outstanding star of the Richmond team. He punted well, ran the ball well and his defensive play was clean-cut, but he excelled in forward passing. His heaves would often go across and well down the field, the long passes made effective by variations of the old shoe string formation which threatened disaster more than once. His was the cleverest forward passing seen in Pineville and would compare favorably with the passing of many college players. His most conspicuous assistants in offense and defense were S. Carr, center, forced by injury to retire before the game was completed, and Covington, end, on hte receiving and of most of the passes.

"After the game the visitors were entertained by the local high school students in the Boy Scouts' hall."
